

Evidence-Linked Strategy Workflows

Background: Market mapping teams collect reports, competitor pages, and analyst notes before a meeting.

Method: The workflow normalizes reports, websites, and notes into reviewable source chunks.

Finding 1: Traceable claims reduce review cycles in client-facing strategy work.

Finding 2: Briefs, comparison matrices, and slides are the most reusable first outputs.

Limitation: Analysts still need to judge framing, novelty, and client sensitivity.

Conclusion: Visible evidence links make AI-assisted strategy work easier to approve.